Change

classes on Sunday nights. Katarina is teaching English to two ladies at the Babies Home and I will help her with lessons and will not be teaching my own English classes. It's time for change. First, will be prayer here at the house Tuesdays 2-3pm with some Honduran women in Zambrano. Part of praying will involve the above towns (and one neighborhood): for strategic evangelism; for salvations; for protection; for pastors [full of good character] to rise up, be trained, and start churches in each area; for discipleship and duplication. Second, Saturdays I will be teaching at New Generation for 8 weeks while Luis is away in the States. I will prepare Saturday messages in Spanish with the help of Maribel (who I will visit a couple of times a week to prepare). Third, I will attend other church activities and meetings in the community (for Spanish and relationships) (Thursdays 4-5pm bible study, Sunday morning church). Fourth, we have church for just our family on Sunday afternoons. Fifth, I will continue to teach Wednesday afternoons at the Rehabilitation Center (from 2-4pm). I'm working on a 4-6 month curriculum, hands-on activities, and homework. Finally, after that, I want to work on some discipleship lessons to put in Spanish.
